DUPAGE REGIONAL CAMP

U.S. Figure Skating strongly believes that educating athletes, parents and coaches at the grassroots level will lead to stronger competitors at the elite level. This year U.S. Figure Skating will host a regional camp in Chicago in conjunction with the DuPage Open competition on August 19th and 20th. Skaters from the preliminary through novice levels are invited to participate at the Twin Rinks of Buffalo Grove.

The purpose of the camp is to promote athletic testing for the skaters and have past and present World and Olympic medalists or competitors and coaches give informative presentations to the skaters, parents and coaches. Members of the Sports Science & Medicine staff will provide valuable feedback to those attending. Officials from U.S. Figure Skating will additionally address the International Judging System.

U.S. Figure Skating has a strong testing structure in place to measure the accomplishment of technical and component skating skills. Additionally, there needs to be a system that measures athleticism. By creating a better athlete in the beginning, and not trying to play catch up with the skaters' athletic abilities, U.S. Figure Skating will produce skaters with higher technical achievements and fewer injuries. A series of measurable exercises will be taught to promote better flexibility, strength, power, anaerobic conditioning, balance and agility/coordination. These exercises will be taught to the athletes and measurements will be taken to get data for future testing parameters and standards.

The information will be delivered in both informative and interactive means to accommodate the age and levels of the athletes. The camp will also have an informational component for the parents. The parents' sessions will address key issues that many parents have questions about pertaining to their child's participation in figure skating. In addition there will be a coaches' track designed to educate the coaches on developing athleticism in their skaters, sports science, the International Judging System and more.

A discount will be given to all athletes that participate in the competition. Further details of the camp and fees will be posted on U.S. Figure Skating's website in May.
